

Your Gift to the Next Generation of Leaders

Bursary Fund Recipients

Michelle Mitchell
Chief Executive, MS Society
Experienced Leaders 2015

'Like a good wine, my learning from the time at Windsor has got even better as the months have passed. The programme has helped equip me to take on the many leadership challenges that I have faced since. This is something I am thankful for and enjoy sharing with others.'

'Like a good wine, my learning from the time at Windsor has got even better as the months have passed'

The programme is a great gift and worthy investment. On a personal level I got more out of it than my Executive Education programme as it got to the true heart of what it is to be a leader. I met outstanding speakers and peers from a range of sectors who were honest about the challenges they faced, and gave invaluable counsel on how to tackle the challenges that I faced as a leader, enabling me to grow with confidence.'

Alastair Bateman
Chief Operating Officer, Resurgo
Emerging Leaders 2015

'The programme was a significant catalyst for change in my life. It made a tangible difference in a relatively short space of time as it gave me the boost to leave my secure role with a well-known organisation and venture into uncharted waters.'

'The programme was a significant catalyst for change in my life...it gave me the boost to venture into uncharted waters'

I loved being able to share tailored problems with my syndicate and receive supportive feedback far beyond that of Executive MBA level programmes. I was struck by how such a diverse group of leaders from different sectors and functional specialisms could empathise and share experiences in a mutually beneficial way.'

Rev Yvonne Clarke
Incumbent, Church of England
Emerging Leaders 2016

'The beauty of the programme is that it makes you evolve. It made me reassess my core values in contrast to organisational values. It cuts across race, religion and cultures. It actually does what the Government is trying to do in terms of reaching out to Black and Minority Ethnic groups.'

'It made me reassess my core values ...having been on the Emerging Leaders programme I truly feel I've emerged'

The programme taught me to be in tune with myself. It took me out of my comfort zone and having been on the Emerging Leaders programme I truly feel I've emerged.'

continued over.....

Moira Bayne
Chief Executive, Housing Options Scotland
WLP 2011 and Women in Leadership 2015

‘Windsor Leadership has been like a golden thread running through my life, and I am in no doubt that the growth of my organisation has been in large part down to my experiences at Windsor; they were the defining experiences of my working life.

In 2009 Housing Options Scotland were very content helping 100 or so people per year with a tiny staff team. We now directly help over 700 people. If anyone is thinking of helping to fund a WL bursary I can say with confidence it will be money well spent.’

‘I am in no doubt that the growth of my organisation has been in large part due to my experiences at Windsor; they were the defining experiences of my working life’

Ed Holloway
Executive Director of Services and Support, MS Society
Developing Leaders 2015

‘The programme gave me the confidence to take on a new position. It normalised some of the challenges we all experience regardless of sector or seniority and has helped me reflect on what’s important - disregarding the background ‘noise’ and focusing more effectively on the priorities. It was different because it’s not content-led. It’s about what the speakers and participants choose to bring. It’s a ‘living’ experience quite unlike anything else I’ve attended.’

‘The programme gave me the confidence to take on a new position. It normalised some of the challenges we all experience’

Rev Tim Bull
Director of Ministry and Residential Canon, Church of England
Developing Leaders 2015

‘The programme affirmed my sense of being able to hold my own with senior leaders in other sectors such as the police and military. It gave me vision beyond the church and the insights from other disciplines were invaluable.

The high calibre of the speakers and the fact they spoke with such unbarred honesty and openness was genuinely eye-opening for me. There was something really affirming about being made to feel special, particularly through the venues and catering. To come on a programme and enjoy exceptional food, hospitality and service really fed my soul as well as my body’.

‘...it affirmed my sense of being able to hold my own with senior leaders in other sectors such as the police and military’

For further details of how to support other key leaders from Third Sector organisations please see:

<http://www.windsorleadership.org.uk/ways-give>